"What is geography?"

What kind of method can you use to transmit such simple doubts?

In this program, we will present "Activities to spread geography to many people", started by students belonging to Ochanomizu University Faculty of Letters and Education.

There are various transmission method by using television, radio, newspaper, magazine and SNS, holding events and collaborating with companies I have learned.

Let's think about together with "the future transmission" of humanities and natural sciences learned from these activities!
