The Study of Old Tottori sand dunes. Why the sand become hard? Epilogue

*katsuki takana<sup>1</sup>, *ren osaki<sup>1</sup>, *ritsuki sugiura<sup>1</sup>, satosi arita<sup>1</sup>, syogo okayama<sup>1</sup>, yuta sunaba<sup>1</sup>, aoi hashikawa<sup>1</sup>, ken hirooka<sup>1</sup>

1. Tottori Prefectural Tottorihigashi High School

Tottori is famous for the Tottori sand dunes. Statues of sand are netter formed by water and sand. But, when we make a statue of sand, old sand is more to fix a statue than new sand. As a result, there are various sizes of sand and it fill space with clay minerals. Clay minerals help to combine old sand with each other. The secret of sand is enjoyable to learn about.

Keywords: geology, lithology, micromeritics

