

Research Evaluation in Japan: Basic and Solution-Oriented Science, Their Perceptions and Realities, and a Future Vision

*Tateo Arimoto¹

1. Japan Science and Technology Agency

The research evaluation has been changing with the society in Japan. In this presentation, the value of the basic scientific research in the face of societal expectations and requirements, and its historical developments are overviewed, followed by a future perspective in the changing global landscape of science and technology.

Keywords: Basic Science, Solution-Oriented Science, Research Evaluation