

An Introduction to Chinese Geoscience Union (CGU) in Taiwan

*JONG-DAO BEN JOU¹

1. Department of Atmospheric Science, National Taiwan University

Ministry of Interior-Taiwan approved the formation of Chinese Geoscience Union (CGU) on September 29, 1992, and on January 16, 1993, the inaugural convention was held to establish the Union. There are several purposes of organizing CGU and the most important one is to establish a geoscience journal, internationally-recognized. Publication of scientific journal TAO (Terrestrial, Atmospheric and Oceanic sciences) suits the objective and steps into its 30-year anniversary. In the presentation, I will describe the organization and annual activities of CGU and discuss the Taiwan Geoscience Assembly (TGA) meeting (once every three years). The participants of TGA have been overpassed 2000 in the last gathering (May 2019). We anticipate, by collaboration with JpGU meeting, members of CGU would gain more opportunity for scientific exchange and visibility.