

The study of the relationship between the flood of Kitakami River and society in the end of Edo period

*Daisuke Sato<sup>1</sup>, Yoshitaka Takahashi<sup>2</sup>

1. International Research Institute of Disaster Science Tohoku University , 2. Tokyo University of Agriculture and Technology

The purpose of this study has two focal points . First, finding the water flood in Kitakami river in the end of Edo period by researching the historical documents include newly discovered one. Second, the relationship between the flood and social influence; forestry, fishing, and political situation.

Keywords: Kitakami River, Area study, Edo period, Historical records, Sendai Han